London Poles "Ordered Terrorist Acts Against Russia"

[Reuter and A.P.]

At yesterday's resumed trial in Moscow of 16 Poles accused of underground activities against the Red Army, evidence was called to prove that all diversionist acts against the Red Army were ordered by the Polish Government in London.

"Terrorist acts committed harmed the common cause of the United Nations and helped Germany," two witnesses admitted. One of them was Major-Gen. Okulicki, former Commander of the Polish Home Army.

A general meeting of the Irish Hierarchy at Maynooth yesterday passed a resolution of deep sympathy with the Polish nation.

When the proceedings were resumed yesterday in Moscow the first witness called was Stanislaw Dzilinski, 36-year-old journalist, who in 1942 became home army commandant of the second Vilna r[illegible]on, and later chief of propaganda and information in this region. He said that all diversionist acts against the Red Army were directed by the Polish Government in London, and that orders from the Polish Government in Poland before the arrival of the Red Army were given "diplomatically." He explained that this meant that "Soviet troops were regarded in a hostile manner." The Soviet Union was called an aggressor, and the eastern areas were regarded as being occupied, he stated.

MAIN ORGANISERS

The Prosecutor—"Who was the main organiser of the undermining activity?"

Dzilinski—"We were acting solely on the instructions of the London emigré Government and of the Warsaw underground movement."

Another home army witness, Cheslav Loraevich (22), said that after a Red Army lorry driver was shot the contents of his vehicle—40 machine-guns and several dozen rifles—were taken to the home army detachment.

Several Soviet workers who arrived from the city to carry out some measure for the Soviet authorities were killed.

Stanislaw Kolendo said that after training at a sapper-sabotage school his detachment of about 100 blew up the railway tracks used by the Red Army "as a symbolic protest against joining this territory to the Soviet Union which was announced that day."

Franz Urtianowicz (23) said he was the chief of a home army platoon charged with carrying out terroristic acts against the Red Army.

Describing shootings and ambushes of Red Army men, this witness added: "I know of one peaceful Soviet citizen who was executed in November, 1944, by hanging."

Major-General Okulicki described how he arrived in Poland from Italy on May 21st, 1944. He said he was dropped by parachute from a Liberator flown by a Polish crew in order to act as assistant to General Bor (Komarowski). "I was told," he declared, "that the coming Red Army offensive might lead to the smashing up of the Germans and the capture of Polish territory, and that this might threaten the independence of Poland. The struggle against the Germans was to be carried on till the end, but as the Soviet Union threatened Poland's independence, measures were to be taken to guard this independence."

Okulicki asked that a radiogram he said he had received from London as head of the Home Army should be read. This said: "In view of the situation in the country, it is necessary to carry on conspiratorial work. The Lublin Committee is an unlawful body, and will be liquidated together with the occupying forces." It ordered that the Home Army should be dissolved, but preserved in camouflaged form, and arms retained.

Okulicki added that things of which he first heard during his interrogation by the Soviet authorities had been done in the eastern areas of Poland, with which he had no communication. He had cancelled instructions for terrorism, he said, wherever he was able to establish communications.

Asked directly who was responsible for the terror, Okulicki said: "I am responsible. I am not guilty of terrorism, but I am responsible because I was commander."

Asked whether he radioed military secrets of the Red Army offensive, he answered: "I only used German information. I do not consider that to be a crime."

Earlier Okulicki was asked "which countries were expected to join the proposed anti-Soviet bloc?" He answered—"England and Germany."

Jankowsky, Deputy Prime Minister of the London Government, and its delegate in Poland, said that he had instructions from London to try and take power, and, if this were unsuccessful, then the independence of Poland was to be defended.

Kazimierz Zwerzinski, Chairman of the Peasant Party, and Vice-President of the Underground "Council of National Unity," another of the accused, denied any part in diversionary acts, and said he regarded himself as only "partly guilty" in the creation of the underground organisation.

LEOPOLD'S EFFORT TO FORM NEW CABINET

KING LEOPOLD has decided to try to form a new Government before his return to Belgium from Salzburg, M. van Acker announced in Brussels last night.

The date of his return now probably depends on the dispatch with which such a Government could be formed, says Reuter.

As demands for the abdication of King Leopold grew in Belgium yesterday a spokesman for the king declared that there was no question of his giving up the throne. From the moment the king decided to return to Belgium he had effectively re-assumed his full constitutional prerogatives, the spokesman said. No date had been set for his return.

The Parliamentary Group of the Socialist Party, at a meeting in Brussels, yesterday, passed a motion stressing "its convictions that only the King's abdication can avoid serious disturbances."

After the Liberal Party's resolution to call for the King's abdication, many responsible leaders of the Catholic Party, the only party to favour Leopold's return, appeared convinced that abdication was the only possible solution of the crisis.

The Belgian people themselves are observing the Premier's call for calm and patience. The miners' strikes, which followed the Government's resignation, have been called off.

Dr. Albert Dumarteau, Communist member of van Acker's Cabinet, said yesterday: "Grave disturbances and savage strikes will break out as soon as the King puts his feet on Belgian soil."

The Belgian Right Wing Parliamentary Group yesterday passed a resolution assuring King Leopold of their loyalty.

M. Van Acker, in a statement to the Press last night, said: "The King asked me to form a new Government, but after consultation I established that it was impossible in the present circumstances. The King is, therefore, making arrangements with a view to forming a Government before his return."

Trans-Atlantic Air Service First Schedule

THE first schedule of regular trans-Atlantic air service published since December 7th, 1941, just released by Pan-American World Airways, lists services to Bermuda, Azores, Portugal, West Africa and Brazil, as well as the twice-weekly service to Eire via Canada and Newfoundland. Leaving New York on Sunday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at 6.0 a.m., the latter service arrives at Shannon Airport, Foynes, the following morning at 10.25 local time, and returns to New York each Monday, Thursday and Saturday evening at 6.30 p.m., arriving there 24 hours later.

The first group of non-priority passengers to be accommodated via the North Atlantic service to New York since war broke out departed from Foynes on the Dixie Clipper on Monday. This initial group included Mr. and Mrs. Hans Mandl, of Cork; Miss Theresa Feenan, American citizen and nurse, who has resided in Dublin for a number of years, and is returning to her home in America; Mrs. Helen O'Malley, also an American citizen, returning home after 8 years' residence in Eire; Mr. Michael Devlin, of Killiney, Co. Dublin, who is travelling to Boston, Mass., for an operation, and Mr. Cecil Hollinshead, of Blackrock, Dublin, travelling on business.

Fare from Eire to the United States is £130 12s. 0d., £235 1s. 6d. round-trip.

Sea and air services between England and the Channel Islands will be re-opened at the week-end.

MORE RAIDS ON JAPAN

TRUK HEAVILY SHELLED BY BRITISH FLEET

THE possibility of a Japanese withdrawal from the Singapore area before they are cut off is again suggested by reports of unusually heavy railway traffic north from Singapore towards Bangkok, in Indo-China, says Reuter. The railway along the Malaya Peninsula has been cut several times and frequently attacked lately by Liberators.

Another serious threat to Japanese possessions is the heavy sea-air attack on Truk by the British Pacific Fleet. There is little doubt that Truk has been left a battered remnant of what it originally comprised.

Australian troops at Borneo have made a new unopposed amphibious landing in the Brunei Bay area, east of Labuan Island, and southern terminus of the single-track railway to the north. Others have reached the coast south of Brunei, at the oil refinery port of Tutong, and within striking distance of the important oilfield of Miri, which has been under shellfire from Allied naval units.

Tokyo Radio stated that Allied planes and ships were bombarding Balikpapan, the oil production centre on the Eastern Borneo coast, while Allied reports indicate that the battle for Okinawa had virtually reached its end. Tokyo asserted that Japanese troops on the southern tip of the island had launched a vigorous counter-attack, recapturing a height.

On Tarakan, off North-Eastern Borneo, Australian and Dutch troops have overcome two of the remaining enemy strongpoints. Japanese casualties on the island total 1,028 killed and 35 captured.

U.S. submarines have sunk eleven Japanese vessels in Far East waters, the Naval Department stated yesterday.

A 20th Air Force communiqué announced that over 400 U.S. Superfortresses carried out another firebomb attack against Honshu and Kyushu yesterday.

Chinese troops advancing down the Kweichow-Kwangsi railway have recaptured San Chia, the chief rail town, 28 miles west of Liuchow, and have advanced another nine miles.

"To Defeat Japan Will Be A Big Job"

—GENERAL SLIM

LIEUT.-GENERAL SIR W. J. SLIM, Commander of the 14th Army, stated at a Press Conference in London yesterday that, in order to bring about the final defeat of Japan as quickly as possible the people of Great Britain must take off their coats and roll up their sleeves as they did to defeat Germany.

"Unless they do that, irrespective of a general election or anything else, they will have this war in the Pacific on their hands for a hell of a long time," said General Slim.

While they were taking a hiding in Burma, he continued, they discovered how to tackle the Japanese, "who is not a man, not an animal, but a fighting insect." They must picture the 14th Army fighting mansized soldier ants with the defects and the qualities of ants. They went on doing the same thing in the same way; but, if it was possible to upset their plans they began to run round in circles, and had no idea how to reorganise themselves. The only way to defeat these swarms of insects was to exterminate them, but it was going to be a big job. One thing in which they became undoubtedly superior to the Japanese was in the air.

IN THE JUNGLE

General Slim, describing the way they "foxed" the Japanese at Imphal, said: "I was tired of fighting Japanese with nothing but jungle behind me, while the Japanese had nothing but good roads behind them, so I pulled back and put the jungle behind the Japanese."

He knew the "little brutes" would come on in their swarms, and, week after week, they had hand-to-hand fighting. He then flew in his reserves over the heads of the Japanese and got them "between the hammer and the anvil, and was able to crack his nut." The result was that the Japanese had to retreat through the monsoon.

Having told the conference how they crossed the Irrawaddy, he said that they expected to find about 400 Japanese around Meiktila, but found 4,500. Some idea of the terrible battle which ensued could be gauged from the fact that three days later they counted 3,200 bodies. Meiktila was the nerve centre of the whole Japanese plan. It was that action which set them on the road to Rangoon, but it was a race against the monsoon.

Doctor's Story Of Shooting On VE-Night

HOW Dr. Raymond Magner, a medical officer in the R.A.F., was wounded in the groin in a shooting affray at Raglan road, Ballsbridge, on the night of May 7th last, was described in the Circuit Criminal Court, Dublin, yesterday, when Donal J. O'Brien (22), a University student, living in Hume street, and Owen Maginn (21), another student, residing at 56 Rathgar road, were charged before Judge McCarthy and a jury with wounding Dr. Magner, with conspiracy, and being in possession of firearms without a certificate.

Dr. Magner in evidence said that he was in civilian clothes when he left the Wicklow Hotel with his mother. Both of them were sober. After the incident in Dawson street they went on their way home. Walking up on the left-hand side of Raglan road, which was rather dark, he suddenly saw two men standing six or eight feet away in front of them. He then heard a shot and felt a pain in his groin. He bent double and noticed smoke issuing from what he supposed was a revolver held by the man nearest to him.

He noticed that his mother was almost fainting and he helped her to the nearest gateway, where she collapsed. He then went to the door of the house occupied by Mr. Read, rapped on it and collapsed on the doorstep. Later he assisted in bringing his mother into the house. He was brought by ambulance to St. Vincent's Hospital, where he was detained for 17 days.

Mrs. Irene Magner said that when she heard the shot fired in Raglan road she remembered no more. She denied that she was excited as a result of the drink she had taken.

Guard C. Moriarty, Donnybrook, said that when he interviewed Maginn in Baggot Street Hospital he stated that the revolver was issued by the L.D.F., of which he was a member. He also stated that he remarked to O'Brien when he saw Dr. Magner hitting the man in Dawson street, "We should follow him and poke him and pot him," meaning they should knock him out. Maginn concluded his statement by saying, "It was disgraceful to hoist the Union Jack and a frightful thing to have the Russian flag over this country."

The Court adjourned until this morning.

Drinkers Abstain In Protest

THE forty public-houses in Boyle, Co. Roscommon, were nearly empty all yesterday as a protest against the increased charges for draught stout and porter. Boyle had always been one of the few towns in Eire where a pint of "single" stout was available for 7d., as compared with the general price of 8d.

At a meeting of the licensed traders on Monday it was decided to change the price of "single" from 7d. to 8d. and of "double" from 10d. to 11d. The price of cider has also been increased.

A public protest meeting is being arranged.

Labour to Contest Londonderry

Londonderry Labour Party have decided to contest Londonderry city and county constituency for Westminster in opposition to Colonel Sir Ronald Ross, Unionist nominee. Mr. Mitchell W. Gordon was selected as one of their candidates some time ago. The Nationalists have not yet fully considered the position, but are expected to reach a decision within the next few days. There is a strong possibility of Alderman D. Hall Christie, Mayor of Coleraine, also entering the contest as an Independent Unionist.

De Gaulle Says Britain Used Threats in Syria

GENERAL DE GAULLE declared yesterday that British pressure in the Levant had taken every form, "from friendly requests to pure and simple threats."

He expressed his hope of a solution which would preserve Franco-British friendship, "which is the foundation of our policy and essential to international harmony."

General de Gaulle, who was speaking during the debate in the French Assembly on the Levant, declared that France wanted to settle her relations with Syria and the Lebanon without outside interference. "But," he added, "it must be said that there was continual intervention by Britain, who possessed overwhelming force of all kinds of monopoly of supplies, and a huge information and propaganda apparatus, with all kinds of agents dressed in British uniform.

"All these gave the British particularly powerful means of making our representatives, and those of Syria and the Lebanon, feel a constant and heavy weight upon them. British pressure took every kind of form, from friendly requests to pure and simple threats. Declarations of principle were made in London, but, in fact, on the spot it was obvious to everyone that France was being progressively driven out.

"We do not accept facts accomplished at our expense; this would mean subscribing to our own decline. To accept the abuse of force at our expense would be disastrous for the future world order.

"If Britain has any proposition to make, our Ambassadors are there to transmit them. If not, and it is a question of arbitration, then we can only conceive of arbitration before an international body, which is being elaborated at San Francisco.

"We feel profoundly the community of interests which, despite everything, has kept Britain and France side by side during these 30 years of war, but we ask that this friendship be also respected in the person of France."

Later the Assembly passed a resolution calling on the Government to make a concerted effort to conclude a treaty with Great Britain similar to the Franco-Soviet Treaty.—(Reuter and A.P.)

MR. LEMASS NEW TANAISTE

Mr. Aiken Becomes Minister For Finance

TWO Cabinet changes have been made as the result of Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly's election as President.

Mr. Sean Lemass, Minister for Industry and Commerce and Minister for Supplies, has been nominated by the Taoiseach as Tanaiste, while the Department of Finance has been assigned to Mr. Frank Aiken on the vacation of that office by the President-elect. Mr. Aiken is relinquishing his functions as Minister for the Co-ordination of Defensive Measures.

In a simple five minutes ceremony at Arus an Uachtarain yesterday afternoon Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, the President-Elect, surrendered to the President, Dr. Hyde, his seal of office as Minister for Finance. Dr. Hyde then handed the seal to Mr. Frank Aiken, Minister for the Co-ordination of Defensive Measures, in token of his appointment as Mr. O'Kelly's successor.

The ceremony was witnessed by the Taoiseach (Mr. de Valera), Mrs. Cambreth Kane, Dr. Hyde's sister, and Mr. Michael McDunphy, barrister-at-law, Secretary to the President.

On arrival at Arus an Uachtarain, Mr. O'Kelly, Mr. de Valera and Mr. Aiken were received by Mr. McDunphy and Captain Thomas Manning, A.D.C. to the President. They signed their names in the visitors' book in Irish. Three Press photographers and two reporters were the only others present at the ceremony.

In the morning the Apostolic Nuncio, the Most Rev. Dr. Paschal Robinson, accompanied by the Right Rev. Monsignor Enrici, Secretary to the Nunciature, called on Mr. O'Kelly at his residence in Anglesea road, to tender his felicitations on his election as President. Later, Mr. O'Kelly visited Government Buildings to bid farewell to his colleagues of the Cabinet and to his staff in the Department of Finance.

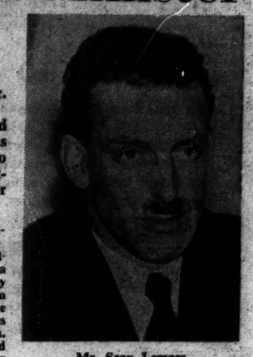

During the day several hundred congratulatory letters and telegrams reached Mr. O'Kelly at his office. With them came a number of cablegrams from well-wishers and Irish organisations in the United States.

Dr. Hyde last evening moved over to his new residence, the former Private Secretary's Lodge. The lodge, which is now called Ratra, after Dr. Hyde's home in Frenchpark, Co. Roscommon, has been prepared for his reception for some time past.

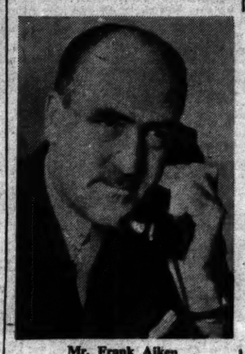

Dr. Hyde is, however, still officially in residence at Arus an Uachtarain as President. As from midnight on Sunday, when his seven years' term of office expires, he will occupy Ratra as a private citizen. The Presidential flags will continue to fly at Arus an Uachtarain until sunset on Sunday next. They will not be hoisted again until immediately after Mr. O'Kelly has made and signed the declaration as President in St. Patrick's Hall, Dublin Castle, on Monday.

An official statement from Arus an Uachtarain last evening reads: "The Taoiseach, the President-Elect, Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, and the Minister for the Co-Ordination of Defensive Measures, Mr. Frank Aiken, were received by the President this afternoon. Mr. O'Kelly surrendered to the President his seal of office as Minister for Finance, and the President presented the seal to Mr. Frank Aiken, who has been appointed to that portfolio."

Church ceremonies in connection with the installation of the new President on Monday next will include High Mass in the Pro-Cathedral at 10 a.m. by permission of the Archbishop of Dublin; Divine Service in St. Patrick's Cathedral, 10 a.m., by permission of the Dean; the Ormond Quay and Scots' Presbyterian Church, Lower Abbey street, at 10 a.m.; the Methodist Centenary Church, St. Stephen's Green, at 12.30, and the Dublin Hebrew Congregation in the Adelaide Road Synagogue, at 7.30 p.m.

Mackenzie King Loses Seat

Mr. Mackenzie King, Premier in the outgoing Canadian Government, lost his seat to Mr. E. L. Bewerman, his Co-operative Commonwealth Federation opponent, by 129 votes, following the count of Service votes. Mr. Mackenzie King had a majority of 263 votes in the civilian polls.

It is assumed that Mr. Mackenzie King will seek another seat at the earliest possible moment so as to be present for the coming session of Parliament, expected early in September.—(Reuter.)

The Council of the Society of Irish Motor Traders, Ltd., has decided that all garages are to be closed on June 29th, the appointed date for national thanksgiving.

Parri Forms Cabinet

Signor Parri has succeeded in forming a Government for Italy, it was announced in Rome last night, after two days of consultations.

One Vice-Premiership has been given to the Socialist leader, Nenni, while the Communist leader, Togliatti, has been appointed to the important Justice Ministry, it was announced.

Parri retained the post of Minister of the Interior, a key position, which controls the police and the election machinery.

Brosio, a Liberal, was named Vice-Premier, a post he held in the Bonomi Cabinet.

Signor de Gaspari, Christian Democrat, remained as Foreign Minister.

Thirty-eight people were reported yesterday to have been killed throughout Italy during the past few days in a wave of violence, says A.P. "Unknown persons" seized and killed 13 political prisoners at Modena, while at Padova a mob which invaded the courtroom killed one defendant and seriously wounded five other accused of Fascist activities.

Turf Hauliers Want Increased Rate

Turf lorries lined the quays when the Turf Hauliers' Association held a meeting last night in the Ormond Hotel, Dublin. The meeting, attended by over 60 delegates, was held to protest against the rates paid for carrying turf to Dublin this season.

Messrs. Carnegie, Dowling, Scully, Cleary and Lloyd were elected to consider proposals for at least a 50 per cent. increase in rates. Strike action was threatened by some delegates. Another meeting will be held to-morrow.

To-day's Dail Agenda

Two new bills will be introduced in the Dail to-day. One is to amend the Juries Act, 1929, and the other to amend the Agricultural Wages Act, 1936. The second stages of the Court Officers Bill and the King's Inns Library Bill will be taken, after which the House will discuss the estimates for the Department of Supplies.

Death Sentence for Vichy Minister

Marcel Déat, French Fascist leader under the Vichy régime, and now in hiding, was condemned to death by the High Court of Justice in Paris yesterday.

New York Gives Eisenhower His Biggest Welcome

TWO million people lined the 37 miles of procession route in New York yesterday, to give General Eisenhower the biggest of his "Big Four" receptions—London, Paris, Washington and New York. It was the greatest welcome in the history of this city of uproarious receptions.

A 17-gun salute boomed out as the Supreme Commander's plane, escorted by fighters, landed at La Guardia airfield. Most schools were closed, and offices and shops were shut for the half-day. Only one thing was missing—except for a few scattered showers, the public responded to the appeals not to tear up telephone books and ticker tape, and scatter it from skyscraper windows in the traditional manner.

At the City Hall crowds, which began to gather at midnight, had grown to at least 100,000 by midday. Hundreds more leaned out from the windows of nearby skyscrapers as the ceremony began on a raised platform, where the Supreme Commander was presented with a specially struck gold medal by Mayor La Guardia, and made an honorary citizen of New York.

General Eisenhower expressed the warning that strength would be needed in peace as well as in war.

"It is not enough that we devise every means towards an international peace," he said. "If we are going to live in years of peace to which a weary world is entitled, then we must be strong and we must be allowed to co-operate in a spirit of true tolerance and forbearance."

Racing Board Established

IT was officially announced yesterday that the Minister for Finance has appointed eleven persons as members of the Racing Board set up under the Racing Board and Racecourses Act, 1945.

Princess Royal In Belfast

The Princess Royal arrived in Belfast yesterday morning, and will be the guest of the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn at Government House for the next three days.

At the Grosvenor Hall she received purses on behalf of the Y.M.C.A. War and National Services Fund. Contributions, totalling £10,000, came from all parts of Northern Ireland. Sir Basil Brooke, the Lord Mayor of Belfast, and the Mayor of Londonderry made speeches welcoming the Princess.

She inspected the Y.M.C.A. mobile canteens, and, in the evening, accompanied by the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn, she attended a gala performance in the Empire Theatre. The proceeds of about £700 were handed to the Y.M.C.A.

Irish Hierarchy Deplores "Injustice to Poland"

THE Irish Hierarchy, meeting at Maynooth College, yesterday, passed the following resolution:—

"We, the Cardinal Primate, Archbishops and Bishops of Ireland, assembled in general meeting at Maynooth College, offer once more to the Polish nation our deep sympathy in the unparalleled trials and sufferings which she underwent during the war, and which the cessation of hostilities has done nothing to mitigate.

"Although she was the first to throw down the gauntlet to aggression, and although the Western nations joined in the conflict to preserve her freedom and independence, yet the end of the war in Europe finds her still crushed beneath the heel of a cruel and ruthless oppressor, her territories threatened with dismemberment; her people are being denied the fundamental democratic right of freedom to chose their own government; political and religious persecution is rampant. Should these injustices be perpetuated; should the Western nations fail to stand firm to their pledged word, and to the democratic principles of which they made such ample profession during the war, then true and lasting peace becomes impossible, and the hopes and longings which now fill the hearts of men are certain to be frustrated.

"We solemnly protest against the injustices to which one of the oldest and most gallant of the nations of Europe is being subjected, and we ask our people, whose history is in so many ways like that of the Poles to join with us in supplicating the All-merciful God to comfort Poland in her sorrow, to mitigate her suffering, and to avert the further evils with which she is now threatened."

Speaking earlier at the distribution of prizes in the College, His Eminence Cardinal MacRory said:—

"I had thought of saying a word about martyred Poland, but I have changed my mind. I have taken steps to secure that a resolution will be carried by the body of Bishops in regard to Poland at its meeting to-day, and that resolution, coming from the united body of Irish Bishops, will have incomparably more effect than any mere words of mine."

Fianna Fail Hope to Elect Lord Mayor

The Dublin Corporation will meet on Monday to elect a Lord Mayor. Fianna Fail, which is the strongest party, with nineteen members, hope to secure the office. Four names are mentioned as aspirants:—Alderman Senator A. Clarkin, Alderman B. Butler, T.D., and Alderman J. McCann, T.D., and Councillor Cormac Breathnach, T.D.

When the party composes its internal differences it is likely that either Alderman McCann or Councillor Breathnach will go forward. Fianna Fail may get the support of one of the Independent aldermen. Vis-a-vis the Government Party are Fine Gael, with twelve members, Labour eleven, and three Independents. Fine Gael and Labour would require to form a bloc to defeat the Fianna Fail nominee.

Last year when Alderman M. O'Sullivan, T.D., was re-elected for the second year to the office he got the support of the majority of his own party—Labour—and Fianna Fail.

The Fine Gael Party will meet to-day to discuss the position, and the Labour Party will meet on Friday. The office carries a salary of £2,500 per annum.

Joyce May Have Two Counsel

The P.A. was informed yesterday that if William Joyce is committed for trial on the high treason charge by the Bow Street magistrate next week, Mr. Charles B. V. Head, his solicitor, will ask for a certificate for two counsel to represent him at the Old Bailey.

It is understood that Mr. Head will be the only legal representative for Joyce at next week's hearing.

NEWMARKET: BLUE WATER THE BEST BET

By BIRDCATCHER

BLUE Water, third in the Free Handicap and in the Newmarket Stakes, will contest the Somersham Stakes at headquarters to-day. Earl's colt is favourably handicapped with Hobo, and, as Darbhanga is a doubtful starter, Blue Water should have an easy task. R. J. Colling holds a strong hand in the Barnwell Handicap, and his selected of Hartlake and Trucebreaker should score.

Cama has twice been a costly failure, but should recover these losses in the Lidgate Stakes.

HIGH SCORING IN FOURSOMES

BY J. P. ROONEY

TWENTY-NINE societies, each represented by three pairs (174 players in all), took part in the qualifying round for the Societies' Cup at Royal Dublin yesterday, the latest additions to the list being Drapers and Hosiery Manufacturers. The officers got through their heavy task excellently, but foursomes is not the speedy form of golf it once was, and, with the average time for the round working out at about 3½ hours, there was plenty of congestion, and another late finish.

The best round was played by the scratchmen from Woodbrook, Brendan Scannell and J. D. O'Reilly, representing Ramblers and Gamblers (holders), who had 75 (37 and 38), with almost a 3 at the 18th (bogey 5), and 6's at the second and third.

The greens were very fast, and the scoring unusually high.

Qualifiers were (the best two nett scores counting):—

148—Ramblers and Gamblers (B. J. Scannell, scr., and J. D. O'Reilly, scr., 75; J. Malone, 1, and P. Coughlan, 9, 73).
148½—Teachers (F. Moran, 9, and J. Pender, 12, 72½; J. B. Supple, 7, and B. Lynch, 7, 76).
150—Drapers (K. Troy, 1, and J. B. Carr, +1, 77; M. P. Fitzpatrick, 3, and J. Sullivan, 13, 73).
152½—Dept. of L.G. and P.H. (J. Lyons, 7, and K. Coughlan, 5, 76; M. Jordan, 8, and F. Patten, 9, 76½).
153—Bank of Ireland (J. Barrett, 5, and G. Malcolm, 14, 79½; D. Connor, 8, and H. Williams, 9, 73½). Schools' Union (P. Love, 1, and E. C. Reeves, 15, 78; C. Stevens, 9, and D. Robinson, 9, 75).
154—Dublin University (T. B. Hannin, 3, and J. Greene, 7, 73; G. Nowlan, 15, and F W. Koenigs, 17, 81).
155—Army (D. V. Horgan, 4, and J. Cummins, 4, 78; F. Bennett, 15, and T. McGrath, 15, 77) (on last 6). Victuallers and Cattle Traders.

Draw for the first round, at Grange next Monday:—

Defence Opens in Longford Will Case

The State case having concluded, evidence for the defence was given in the Central Criminal Court, Dublin, yesterday in the re-trial of Mrs. Mary Ellen Brady, Home Assistance officer, Derawley, Drumlish, Co. Longford, who is charged with having on June 8th, 1941, with intent to defraud, uttered a will purporting to be the will of Thomas Mollahan, farmer, Derawley, Drumlish, knowing it was a forgery.

The further hearing was adjourned until this morning.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Brady, giving evidence, said that Mollahan was a first cousin once removed of hers. Since she went to live at Derawley, she saw him almost every day, cooked his meals for him and often sent them down to him. In January, 1944, she told him she could not supply him with any more meals and that he would have to compensate her in some way. He said he would sign her over the farm.

VISIT TO LONGFORD

On Monday, January 10th, he told her he would go in the next day to see a solicitor. They went in the next day to see Mr. Gearty, solicitor, in Longford, and Mollahan had a talk with him for about ten minutes. They were home on the same bus together, and her husband left Mollahan down to his house.

There was no truth whatever in the statement that she had taken Andrew Campbell to Longford to impersonate Mollahan at the solicitor's office. When she visited Mollahan in the hospital, she asked him would he make another will, and he said he would not undo what he had done. After Mollahan's death, the walls and piers of her gate were tarred and inscribed: "Land grabber: Beware."

Mrs. Brady had not concluded her direct evidence when the Court adjourned.

DUBLIN SLANDER ACTION SETTLED

A slander action brought by Martin Conlon, auctioneer, North Circular road, Dublin, against Peter Foley, publican, Scotch House, Burgh quay, Dublin, was struck out by the President of the High Court yesterday by consent, the words complained of by Mr. Conlon being withdrawn, and Mr. Foley agreeing to pay a sum for costs.

Mr. J. A. Costello, S.C., for Mr. Conlon, said that Mr. Conlon had been a deputy in the Dáil for a number of years, and, later, had been a member of the Senate. On February 20th last he was offering himself as a candidate for the Senate election and during a conversation between Mr. Foley and Mr. William O'Hara about a nomination for Mr. Conlon Mr. Foley said, "I'll tell you straight, O'Hara, I gave Martin Conlon £5 for a subscription for Murty O'Beirne. I never heard about it afterwards, and I saw Murty, who told me he didn't know anything about it."

These words implied, said Mr. Costello, that Mr. Conlon had been active in getting funds for Mr. O'Beirne, and that he had converted to his own use the money that had been entrusted to him by Mr. Foley. The action had been settled, and the words, he understood, would be publicly withdrawn.

Mr. Charles Casey, for Mr. Foley, said that Mr. Foley did not intend to make any reflection on Mr. Conlon, and if anything he said did contain any reflection on Mr. Conlon he regretted it and unreservedly withdrew it. Mr. Foley agreed to pay a sum for costs.

With Mr. Costello was Mr. P. A. Sheehan (instructed by Mr. J. P. McD. Concannon), and with Mr. Casey were Mr. Cecil Lavery, S.C., and Mr. J. N. Garland (instructed by Messrs. Roger Greene and Sons).

Mr. O'Beirne informs us that the subscription referred to in the case went towards paying his expenses in the 1938 elections, in which he was a candidate. The money was lodged in the bank, and was never received personally by Mr. O'Beirne.

MILITARY PENSIONS APPEALS ALLOWED

The Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Murnaghan, Mr. Justice Geoghegan, Mr. Justice O'Byrne and Mr. Justice Black, in the Supreme Court yesterday, allowed the remaining appeals of the Minister for Defence from orders of the High Court, making absolute conditional orders of certiorari directing the Minister to bring to the High Court to be quashed, reports of the Referee appointed under the Military Service Pensions Act, 1934, that certain applicants for military service pensions were not entitled to pensions. They directed that the Minister should, in the circumstances, abide his own costs of the High Court and of the appeals.

The Supreme Court, giving judgment last Monday on the first of the eighteen appeals, held that if the conditional orders had been made absolute after February 1st, 1945, the law applicable was the Amendment Act of this year and allowed the appeal. A second appeal was ruled by this judgment, and, yesterday, the Court being of opinion that the sixteen remaining appeals could not be distinguished from the first, allowed them all.

TRAIN SMASH SEQUEL

In the High Court yesterday, Mr. Justice Martin Maguire gave judgment by consent for £2,400, with costs, for Mrs. Gertrude Devine, Dolphin's Barn street, Dublin, in her action against Córas Iompair Eireann for damages for the death of her husband, Francis, Post Office employee, who was killed in the collision of the mail train from Dublin to Cork with a cattle train at Straboe, between Maryborough and Portarlington, on December 20th last. He apportioned £1,300 of the money to Mrs. Devine and £350 to each of her three children.

RED CROSS AMBULANCES

Mr. Justice Overend reserved judgment in the High Court yesterday in the action of Belvedere, Ltd., a private company that hires ambulances, Upper Baggot street, Dublin, against the Irish Red Cross Society, St. Stephen's Green, Dublin. The action is for a declaration that the Society is not entitled to hire ambulances, and an injunction to restrain them from doing so; and the Society pleads that the hiring of ambulances is within its primary objects.

Good Buying of C.I.E. Common

ALTHOUGH markets were subdued on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, sentiment in most departments was quite cheerful. Small price movements among Irish securities generally favoured holders. Quiet conditions prevailed among British Industrials.

The Transport group attracted attention and a mild feature was the good buying of Coras Iompair Common, which put the price ahead to 74½. Gt. Northern issues were mostly in request and the Ord. firmed up to 26½.

Sunbeam Wolsey Pref. improved to a high level of 40s. and Wallpapers Ord. jumped 1s. to 23s. 6d. Guinness units held quietly steady at 146s.

Bank of Ireland stock gained a further point at 368 and Provincial Old moved up to 51s. Home Government Funds were quietly offered.

Total expenditure amounted to £7,651,111, against £6,883,403. The balance in the Exchequer on June 16th, 1945, was £3,177,334, against £3,928,510 a year earlier and £1,164,306 on April 1st, 1945.

REVIVAL OF INTEREST IN DIAMONDS

FROM OUR LONDON FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT

QUIET conditions persisted in London Stock Markets yesterday, but the tone generally was assisted to some extent by optimism about the return of Mr. Churchill. Levelling-up operations were responsible for slight irregularity in Gilts. The undertone remained firm, and other high-class Investment issues kept up. Foreign Bonds held quietly steady.

There was some nibbling at British Rails. In the Overseas section, Argentines were heavy. Canpac issues showed renewed firmness, and further advances were established by Brazil Railway First Gold Bonds and Mexican Debentures.

The feature of the Mining department was the revival of interest in Diamonds. In a quiet Industrial market, Radio shares showed to advantage, under the lead of Cossors, which enjoyed a big turnover, and there was selective support elsewhere. Oil shares displayed little of interest, movements showing no decided trend. The feature of the Mining department was the revival of interest in Diamond shares.

VICTORIA FALLS

For the seventh year in succession, the Victoria Falls and Transvaal Power Company, Ltd., is paying a final dividend of 11 p.c., again making 15 p.c. for the year. Profit figures are not yet available, but the directors state that they are satisfied that the net profit for 1944 will not differ materially from that for 1943. For that year the total was £555,579, and, after the payment of the maximum Preference dividend, there was available for the Ordinary capital the equivalent of about 23 p.c., the reserve funds receiving £150,000. Tax will be deducted from the final dividend at 5s. 3d. in the pound.

The company supplies electricity and compressed air throughout the Transvaal mining areas. It operates its own steam-driven station, and also stations owned by the Electricity Supply Board. Operations have been somewhat handicapped by the shortage of both skilled and unskilled labour on the Rand, but, when the position becomes normal and new machinery for the mines is obtained, it is anticipated that the demand for the company's power will increase.

The Ordinary capital is now £2,500,000, to which it was increased in 1935 by the distribution of a capital bonus of 150 p.c. Since then the reserve fund has been steadily added to, and in the last balance-sheet totalled £1,450,000. The £1 Ordinary stock units are quoted at 88s. 9d.

CABLE FUSION DOUBT

There appears to be a danger that the proposed Cable Company fusion will be defeated, unless more proxies are received by British Insulated Cables, Ltd. Yesterday evening the company stated that proxies have so far been received from the holders of about one half of each class of Preference and Ordinary capital.

It is pointed out that, under the out-of-date articles of association of the company, the meetings which have been called will be unable to deal with the business one way or another, unless the holders of two-thirds of each class of capital express their views by voting for or against the amalgamation. Over 4,000 stockholders have not yet answered.

COMING LOAN REPAYMENT

About a fortnight hence, or July 1st to be exact, the Government has to repay over £245,000,000 of 2 p.c. Conversion Loan. This loan was one of the earlier financial transactions of the war. It was issued to the amount of £245,353,143 in 1940 in exchange for a similar amount of 4½ p.c. Conversion Loan.

The Stock Exchange will be more interested in the repayment of part of the Australian issues due on the same date. It will be remembered that Australian stocks to the total of £94,311,567 are due for repayment, of which the date for £87,354,796 is July 1st and for the balance August 1st. Of the total, £60,000,000 was offered for conversion into a new 3¼ p.c. stock, an operation which was very successful. But over £36,000,000 remains to be repaid.

WHITE, TOMKINS DIVIDEND

At a meeting of the directors of Messrs. White, Tomkins and Courage, Ltd., held in London yesterday, Mr. Robert Clyde, D.L., Chairman and Managing Director, presiding, it was decided to recommend a dividend of 10 p.c. on the Ordinary shares for the year ending March 31st, 1945. The dividend has remained unchanged for a number of years.

Rehabilitation of Rubber Industry

SOME authorities in the Rubber industry are inclined to look askance at the rehabilitation scheme for the industry in Malaya put forward by the Rubber Growers' Association, with the approval of the Colonial Office. Mr. E. D. Money, of Bousteads, Ltd., chairman of a number of rubber companies, comments on the delay in announcing details of the scheme and declares that it is likely to be only a starting point for negotiations between producers, which should have been in progress since last December.

He suggests that, under the scheme, companies or private owners of estates of over 100 acres will have little liberty in the choice of supervision, labour or materials and will have no control over production, policy or cost of production.

It is suggested, he says, that pooling of working expenses and profits must be part of the plan and that this must cover a period of six years. Only such a period, covering a complete tapping cycle, would be sufficient to permit group managers to operate their groups without considerations which must affect orders which will decide for a number of years the earning capacity of the properties. Such long-term pooling would simplify the problem of separating revenue from capital expenditure.

FIANNA FAIL'S FAILURES

While Mr. de Valera and his colleagues may have little reason to be pleased with the result of the Presidential election, they will have even less cause for satisfaction when they come to consider the consequences of their efforts to turn county and town councils into agencies of Fianna Fail. Here their efforts have been met with almost ignominious failure. With few exceptions, the majority of local electors have refused to bury their independence in the grave that was so carefully prepared by party organisers. Challenged by Mr. de Valera to subordinate every local issue of importance to some vague conceptions of "national unity and solidarity," their answer has been plain and unmistakable. Taken as a whole, local electorates have said that neither cajoleries nor threats will induce them to part with the few rights and liberties that local councils and corporations have managed to retain despite inroads of bureaucratic authority and party influence. The answer has been specially clear and emphatic in so far as voters were called on to resist a strange mixture of idealism and party intrigue. Relying on the strength of their local organisations, Ministers apparently decided that the concurrence of of Presidential and local elections would create the atmosphere in which voters might successfully be herded together under the all-embracing wings of Mr. de Valera and his Cabinet colleagues. If—said the Government's spokesmen—you really want good houses and low death rates, cheaper transport and better medical services, along with national security, you must vote for Mr. O'Kelly as President and for his party's nominees as members of your local councils. If, as we cannot but believe, that was the Government's plan of campaign, all that need be said is that it failed hopelessly to achieve its purpose.

Another significant feature of the double-barrelled election was the abstention of large bodies of electors. Even the combined appeals of Presidential and local candidates failed to attract as high a proportion of electors as found their way to the polls in previous parliamentary and local elections. Various causes, such as the absence of those engaged in war activities, may help to explain the comparatively small numbers of votes recorded; but, as we fear, there can be little doubt that other, and more disquieting, influences contributed a full share to the result. There is no doubt, unfortunately, that citizens are becoming increasingly sceptical about the values of our political systems and institutions. Finding that many promises are unfulfilled, and, that hopes of progress too often are shattered, elder members of the community are disposed to wring their hands in despair and to take up an attitude of "a plague o' both your houses." Even more marked and menacing is the fact that members of the younger generation tend to develop a cynical view of political life. To them democracy becomes the mere catchword of party interests, and talk about freedom and liberty a mask for those with personal axes to grind. Something quite different from present systems of national and local government, they say, must be discovered before things can improve. What that "something" might be nobody knows. "Shirts" of various colours have been tried on with very uncomfortable results, and short-cuts have led only to disaster. Nevertheless, the machinery of democracy and representative institutions as we have it is little other than a tool in the hands of clever party managers.

If—as there is too much reason to fear—that be the prevalent attitude of youth to problems of government, it becomes the duty of statesmen to seek for more intimate and effective contacts between the citizen and those who occupy seats of executive or administrative authority. In recent years, and especially since 1922, the whole tendency has been towards systems and methods under which governments—having contrived to secure occasional election "mandates"—become intolerant of views that are out of harmony with the policies and programmes of Ministers and their departmental advisers. As legislation and the work of public administration became more and more complicated, the influence of elected representatives, in the Legislature and in local councils, has tended steadily to diminish. Thus the average citizen, having once been persuaded to accept a party programme, ceases to matter until another popular mandate is demanded by party organisers. So armed, the whole tendency of Ministers has been to gather all effective authority into their own hands and those of their various departments. Thus local representative authorities, who showed a disposition to be critical of ministerial decisions or of party programmes, found that most of their powers had been transferred to the hands of State-appointed managers or commissioners. Nevertheless, the general framework of local administration, as it was forty years ago, remained without substantial change. City corporations and the councils of tiny townships to-day find themselves equally at the mercy of departmental ordinances and disciplinary decisions. Therefore, there has come about a general revolt against conditions that threatened the complete subjection of local authorities to the mandates of party and its dependent bureaucracies. If Ministers are wise, they will not be indifferent to last week's writing on the wall that they themselves chose to erect.

Spending to Save

The Select Committee on National Expenditure, in a report just published, declares its firm opinion that Britain's war bill was increased greatly by "wasteful expenditure" on warlike stores. In particular, it believes that the cost of the war was magnified by the lack of adequate provision for research. "Owing to a parsimonious attitude towards research and consequent unpreparedness, the first two or three years of the war were spent by scientists and research workers in a strenuous attempt to make up for lost time," says the report; and it asserts that the cost of Britain's fighting forces will continue to be disproportionately large unless research is maintained, with sufficient funds, during peace time. The moral, as we believe, might be taken further. If it is true that the stinting of research on the weapons and materials of war leads, in the long run, to "gross extravagance," it is equally evident that expenditure on research for peace-time proposals is a profitable investment. Inefficiency ultimately costs the highest price. To perpetuate inefficiency, and the consequent waste, rather than to spend money at once in order that it may be eliminated, is very bad economy. In our own country there are many matters which would well repay the initial expense of research and inquiry. The soil survey which this newspaper has advocated many times would pay high dividends to the agriculturalists. Research into cattle diseases—which is to be developed by the Department of Agriculture—might succeed in eliminating the huge losses incurred each year by stock-farmers through these diseases. A survey of the resources of Irish fisheries well might open up the way for more profitable exploitation. In almost every field, knowledge is worth money. It is a matter of plain common-sense to spend the money freely, with the assurance that the increased knowledge will repay the outlay many times over.

NEW PRINCIPAL OF WESLEY COLLEGE

The Rev. Mortimer Temple has been appointed Principal of Wesley College, Dublin. The Rev. T. J. Irwin, D.Litt., who has held the position of Principal for 35 years, will become Treasurer of the school.

THANKSGIVING DAY APPROVED BY HIERARCHY

THE Irish Hierarchy, at their meeting in Maynooth College yesterday, appointed June 29th as a day of Thanksgiving for the cessation of hostilities in Europe, and particularly for the preservation of Ireland from the ravages of the war.

The people were exhorted to appeal to God to comfort those who had been bereaved by the conflict, to alleviate the manifold miseries which were its aftermath, and to guide those upon whose decisions depended to such a large extent the welfare of mankind towards a just and lasting peace.

Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament wherever possible was directed, and the people were asked to observe the day as one of sincere repentance.

At the outset of the meeting, Cardinal MacRory paid tribute to the late Dr. Keane, Bishop of Limerick, who had been a member of the Trustee Body of the College and Secretary to the Episcopal Body and Standing Committee.

The College had had another successful year. The war had made things very difficult, and it was creditable to all concerned that the health and studies of the students were up to the usual standards. It was no small thing that during the trying times through which they had passed the high average of the College had been maintained.

Cardinal MacRory asked for prayers to assist the Pope, who, he said, had been for years the world's champion of justice, charity and peace. There must be, he said, some danger that his health might not continue to bear the enormous strain that he put on it.

COLLEGE FINANCES

The Very Rev. Dr. Kissane, President of the College, mentioned that next October the College would have completed its 150th academic year. The bishops had given him instructions to arrange to have a Solemn High Mass, with Te Deum, to mark the occasion when the Hierarchy met in that month. Past students of the College would be given an opportunity to join in the celebrations in a very tangible way.

For many years the financial condition of the College had been causing the bishops considerable anxiety. The revenues had remained practically unchanged, while the expenses had mounted enormously, with the result that there was now a very considerable deficit. Sooner or later the task must be faced of trying to bridge the gap beween the College assets and liabilities.

During the next academic year, Dr. Kissane stated, arrangements would be made by which it would be possible for past students and anyone with an interest in the future of the College to contribute their share in putting the College on a sound financial basis.

Referring to the condition of the buildings at the College, he said that the older buildings were now 150 years old. They were not originally built to specifications which would satisfy a modern clerk of works. Some day a drastic step must be made, and the buildings must be renewed from the ground up. This was not a matter of extreme urgency, but it must be faced within the next 25 years, and would entail a very considerable expenditure.

Cruiskeen Lawn

By Myles na gCopaleen

SOME untried radio speakers suffer from 'mike-fright.' Admittedly there is something sinister about the naked little organism, so live, so unsleeping, so meticulous in recording rustic intonation, tobaccic diapason, the skipping of lines due to phacocystitic alcholism. It looks like a sort of eye that hears—so acutely that mere seeing—the most superficial of cognitions—is superfluous.

Why not disguise or hide the thing? Could the mike not be dressed? I will tell you a very simple way of doing it—get some microbes!

I would like to see how a mike covered with tasteful microbes would handel say the overture to Handel's 'Cherry Orchard' as played by your Dublin. . . . Phobeharmonic Orchestra. Probably deception would be perfect.

A Memoir of Keats

Keats and Chapman were once retained—at a poor fee, it is true—by the British Government to undertake research into antiquarian remains in Arabia. Very poorly outfitted and provisioned, they set off on horseback from Damascus and after a fortnight's travel, found themselves in the centre of the desert and incidentally at the end of their resources. All their food had been consumed and the two friends had been constrained to cast speculative glances at their mounts. Chapman had an emaciated roan animal while Keats had a rather good-looking bay. They carried on for two further days, warding off hunger with cigarettes. Chapman eventually decided that the time had come for the application of desperate remedies.

"We will die," he said to Keats, "unless we can arrange to eat, not only to-morrow but for many days after. I have only one cigarette left and the fumes of it would probably kill me if I smoked it on a stomach so empty. We have but one course. Kill the better horse—yours as it happens—and cure the carcase by smoking it over a fire. We can then eat some of the meat, have a final smoke, and carry the surplus meat with us on the other horse."

Keats morosely agreed to the slaughter of his own animal, chiefly because he would rather starve than taste the diseased beast owned by Chapman. Lots were drawn to find which of the men should sit up all night curing the carcase over the crude brushwood fire they had lit. Keats lost. Accepting the decision but in a vile temper, he tried to cut his horse's throat with a razor. The frightened animal reared, broke loose and galloped away into the wilderness. Chapman, stunned, watched it disappear. Keats sighed, produced his cigarettes, mutely indicated that the packet contained but one.

"You will have to smoke your roan," he said to Chapman.

Have You Lost Any?

The Northern Whig, a nationalist organ published in County Belfast, came out the other day with a quare one. Big advertisement saying "Experienced LADY TRACERS required. Apply giving particulars of experience and salary expected to Box ——."

All very cynical. Does anybody really want to trace ladies, even in County Belfast? And what is the idea of asking people the experience they expect? Sounds just a wee bit immoral to me. Or is the thing a sneer? Are ladies so scarce there that somebody is interested in tracing one. Tracers—embracers? Bracers? Hmmm.

NEW BISHOP OF KILLALOE

At a special meeting of the Bench of Bishops of the Church of Ireland in Dublin yesterday, the Ven. Hedley Webster, Archdeacon of Cork, was appointed Bishop of Killaloe, Kilfenora, Clonfert and Kilmacduagh. The appointment had been referred to the House of Bishops when, a fortnight ago, the United Synods of the Dioceses, meeting in Limerick to elect a new Bishop, failed to come to a decision. The See fell vacant upon the translation of the Right Reverend R. McNeil Boyd to Derry.

A son of the late Mr. George Webster, of Bandon, Co. Cork, the Bishop-elect is 65 years of age. He graduated from Dublin University in 1900 with a senior Moderatorship. At the Divinity School the following year he won the Archbishop King and Bishop Forster Prizes, and in 1902 the Hebrew Prize. He was ordained for the Parish of St. Luke, Cork, in 1903, and while there as curate-assistant took his B.D. degree. In 1907 he became curate-assistant of Holy Trinity, Cork, and in 1913 he was appointed to his first incumbency (Kinneigh), returning three years later to Holy Trinity as rector. He became rector of Blackrock, Cork, in 1926. He was appointed a canon of Cork and of Cloyne in 1936, and two years later succeeded the present Bishop of Cork as Archdeacon of the Diocese. For 12 years he was Examining Chaplain to the Bishop of Cork. He is the third successive Archdeacon of Cork to reach the Episcopal Bench.

Mr. George C. Avison, 63 Merrion square, whose death took place recently, is survived by his widow, one son and one daughter.

AN IRISHMAN'S DIARY

The Golden Voices

ANYBODY who regards the B.B.C. as something large and inhuman would do well to meet two representatives who are in Dublin at the moment. They are two of the women announcers, Miss Marjorie Anderson and Miss Adza Vincent.

Miss Anderson, who is tall, slim and fair-haired, with a very soft English voice, was the first woman to be employed as an announcer by the B.B.C. She was chosen out of 3,000 applicants who had answered an advertisement. "I always believe," she says, "that it was because I typed my application."

Miss Vincent is the daughter of Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Hodgins, of Nenagh. She uses the name of her mother, who was Kathleen Vincent, the well-known opera singer. She joined the B.B.C. only a year ago, and is engaged on the African service. For those who are interested in such things, I might add that she is of medium height, dark, and vivacious. Together they have convinced me that for this job you need not merely a golden voice, but the sort of personality that can warm men three thousand miles away.

Yours, Partner

Both the ladies did a three-year course at Miss Elsie Fogarty's dramatic school, and both have spent some time on the stage. Miss Vincent has been with Donald Wolfit's Shakespeare company, and visited Dublin in "Murder in the Cathedral," eight or nine years ago. Miss Anderson went to America with the same play.

I derived this information from a sort of antiphonal chorus, Miss Anderson talking about Miss Vincent, and Miss Vincent about Miss Anderson. From the same source I discovered that Miss Vincent went on a world tour in 1938, that she was in India when the war started, and that before entering the B.B.C. she lectured for the War Office and the Ministry of Information.

Miss Anderson is in charge of one of the most popular Forces programmes, "Thank You for Your Letters." She tries, in reply to letters from Service men, to give them the little intimate details of life at home that mean so much to men in the Burmese jungle, or the snows of Iceland.

Sincerity

Every week she gets shoals of letters—"most of them amazingly intimate." "What struck me first," chimed in Miss Vincent at this point, "was the sincerity with which these letters are treated. There's no formal reply by a secretary or anything like that. Nothing makes Marjorie so furious as when people ask her if she writes her own scripts!

"One man wrote and asked her to go to Sonning-on-Thames, stand on the bridge and throw a pebble in the river for him. He thought somehow that it would help him to come safe home. She went out to Sonning-on-Thames and did it, and then told him all about it."

These men want to know what the High street in Slocombe-on-Marsh looks like now, and how things are in Wolverhampton. They write to Marjorie Anderson as a friend, and she goes there to see, and tells them. I wonder if there's any chance that she will do a programme on Ireland when she gets back from her holiday here. There are thousands of men and women who would give a lot to hear about the children in the Green on a hot summer afternoon.

Record Library

I notice from the 1944-45 Annual Report of the Limerick Co. Council Library Committee that during the year gramophone records were provided and loaned out for playing in the home. I have often wondered why there is nothing in the nature of a public record library in Dublin, although it seems pretty clear that if the plain people treated the gramophone records in the same way that they treat borrowed books, the library would have to go out of business in a very short time.

The formation of the service in Limerick was experimental. As far as I know, there is no similar public library service elsewhere in Ireland, or even in England, although some of the American libraries lend out records. The Limerick Library was confined to serious works, and the experiment has been most successful. The warnings of the wise that the records would not be playable after a few issues proved untrue, and borrowers, with very few exceptions, have been most careful.

Public Opinion

During the year 1,043 records were issued for playing in the home. There is a stock of 282 records in the library, and of these the most popular works included a Chopin Concerto, the Beethoven "Choral" Symphony, Schubert's "Great" C Major Symphony, Moeran's "Kerry" Symphony, a Brahms Concerto, a Beethoven Quartet, and Bizet's L'Arlesienne Suite.

It is gratifying to see such an experiment carried out in the country, and it is to be hoped that the service may, in the fulness of time, be extended to Dublin; for the gramophone record is the perfect method of obtaining an intimate knowledge of good music.

As a matter of fact, there does not seem to be any good reason why a record library should not prove a paying proposition, provided that a reasonable check-up were kept on the condition of the records, with some form of guarantee that the careless borrower would replace any records damaged through his carelessness.

Ooooh!

The authorities of Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts, have instructed students sun-bathing on the roofs to wear more clothes.

Army bombers have been flying dangerously low over the girls' college.

"PLAYING AT WAR"

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Is this a time for pacifism to raise its foolish head and blood-stained hands?

Pacifism, through its child, appeasement, bears a direct responsibility for the war which is not yet over. Every supporter of pacifism is helping to promote a new war, and is doing more harm than a dozen military tattoos could possibly do.—Yours, etc.,

A. A. LUCE.

Ryslaw, Bushy Park road, Dublin.

POINTS FROM LETTERS.

"CARRIAGE PAID."—That the "carriage paid" regulation of C.I.E. should be a nuisance, or otherwise, to individual traders is almost a trifling matter compared to the glaring fact that this State-sponsored monopoly should abolish a convenient service which, on its own showing, was extensively used by the public. Of course, it will mean less work and less expense for C.I.E. Does this mean that the test of the new company's efficiency will be its capacity to make a profit rather than its ability to meet the transport needs of the community?—C. COLLINS. 383A N.C. road, Phibsboro', Dublin. 14-6-'45.

SUMMER SOLSTICE.—Cairns, standing-stones and other ancient sites are often found ranged in straight rows across the landscape. The lines are occasionally directed towards sunset or sunrise on crucial days of the year, especially midsummer and mid-winter. The prehistoric alignment will be found to differ very slightly from the present-day direction. As the heights of the horizon and the sighting station vary in each district, co-operation is invited from observers throughout the country at the coming Summer Solstice.—LUDOVIC McL. MANN.

183 West George street, Glasgow, June 14th, 1945.

LEAVING CERTIFICATE EXAMINATION.—The considered opinion of quite a lot of people, including native speakers, is that the Irish paper this year was very difficult. In some cases the professor who set this paper has gone outside the set course. Irish is a compulsory subject, and for students to get such a set-back in the middle of their exams. has a very bad effect.—"A POOR PARENT," Dublin. June 18th, 1945.

BISHOP'S GOLDEN JUBILEE

The Most Rev. Dr. Doorly, Bishop of Elphin, will celebrate the golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood on Saturday next. To mark the occasion, he will celebrate Mass on that day in Sligo Cathedral. Dr. Doorly has received a letter of congratulation from the Pope, in which he is authorised to impart a special blessing to those who attend the Mass. Aged 77 years, Dr. Doorly is a native of Oran, Co. Roscommon. He has been Bishop of Elphin for the past 19 years. He was ordained in Maynooth in 1895.

WEATHER FORECAST

Ireland.—Wind east, moderate or fresh, becoming variable; thundery; rain and thunderstorms, spreading north; mainly cloudy, with local rain or showers; cooler.

Further Outlook.—Unsettled and cooler.
